Hello neighbor,

This is so exciting! If you are ever in my area, please stop by.

Thank you for all the incredible work you do at Dana-Farber Cancer Institute. To me you are a true hero.

I moved to Framingham 4 1/2 years ago. It's such a lovely city. I've met so many wonderful people here and made wonderful new friends.

Thank you so very much for your kindness and generosity. I'm very grateful. Wishing you a wonderful rest of the week.

 📖 Read in color: selection for adults "Wild Tongues Can't Be Tamed" - this is a collection of short stories by Latinx authors. It's raw, messy, and truthful. 📖
 📖 We have an Advance Reading Copy in our LFL... meaning a version out before being sold in bookstores! Please share this book far and wide.

Catch-22 - a classic must read.

Children's books - new additions! Thank you to @facepaintnonprofit for these donations! A great book about science (my favorite!), the United States, and Europe! Follow them on Instagram for more info about the great stuff they are doing!

parksidereads I love the bookish community!

Since opening our little free library last September, I've met so many fellow stewards and LFL supporters, and all of them are amazing. These people not only know the importance of literacy their own lives, but go out of their way on a daily basis to ensure books are accessible to everyone - and that my friends is amazing.

Ellen and Ken with @facepaintnonprofit recently donated their book What Are Microscopes? to our little free library and I couldn't be more excited. It's an excellent introduction to Antonie Van Leeuwenhoek, one of the first inventors of the microscope, and his findings.

I hope whoever finds it in our little free library enjoys it as much as we did.

Today people within the bookish community reminded me of how much joy there is to be had in the little things... what's recently brought you joy?

Hi Ellen!
 I got your generous gifts and here's a photo of them in my LFL. I also posted it on the LFL Stewards' page.
 Some lucky kids will be enjoying these soon.
 Thanks again!
 Laurie

Hello again:)

I just wanted to thank you again for the book donations. We are so very grateful.

You guys are doing a great job! Be proud of yourselves and your accomplishments!

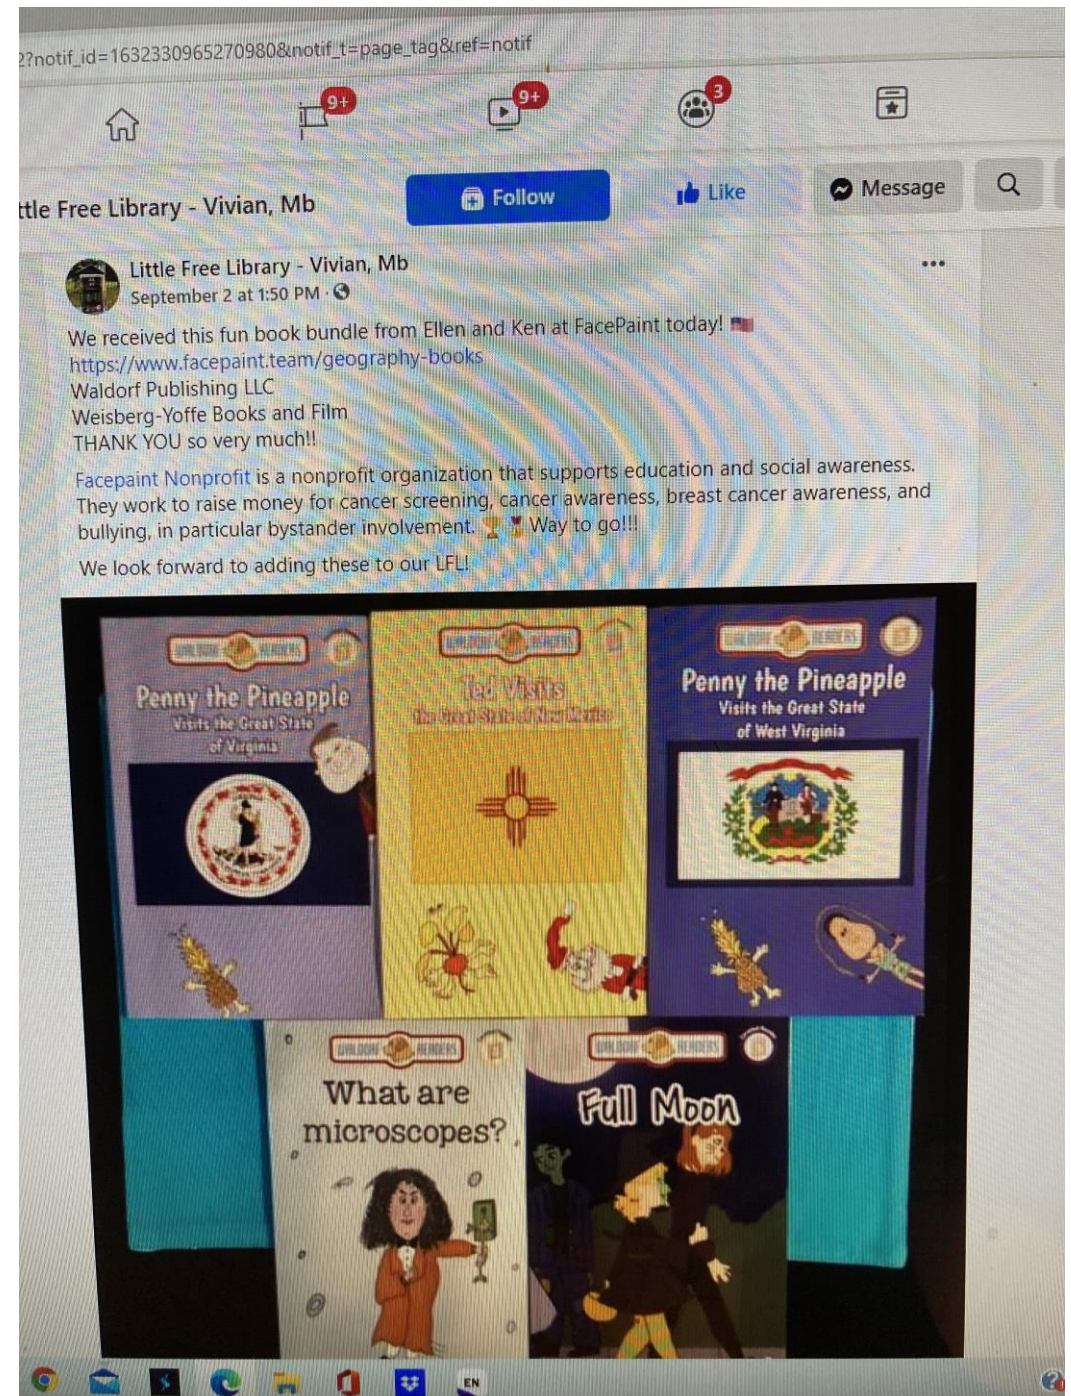

If books ever come our way again, that would be wonderful, and everyone that receives them should be so grateful!

All the best to you and yours!

I wanted you to see the post and the amount of views it's received in a short amount of time!

Be well, stay safe!

Dear Dr. Weisberg,

9/17/21

Thank you for the books. I love to read books. We will be learning about Europe this year.

I love looking under the microscope. It is very interesting!
